

Question Writing

- All question words have a(n) accent.
- When writing questions in Spanish there is a(n) question mark at both the beginning and end of the question.
- Only vowels can have accents. ñ (tilde)
- There are both singular and plural forms of some question words.
- We choose the spelling of Cuántos, Cuántas, depending on the gender (m/f) / amount of (singular/plural) what is being counted.
(Question word + what's being counted+ Verb (conjugated)+ subject?)
- If you want to say:
 - What is = Cuál es (skip boxes 1-3)
 - What are = Cuáles son (skip boxes 1-3)
 - What ..any noun/verb = Qué (Skip box 1)
 - Examples: What time? What are you doing?
- If you want to ask a “where” question, there are 3 wheres
 - Dónde = where (used commonly with “estar”, traditional English where)
 - Adónde = to where (only used with “ir” (voy...))
 - De dónde = from where (used commonly with “ser”)
- If it's a yes or no question skip the first box!!!
